GERMANS BELIEVE SIEGE

GUNS CAN DATTER DOWN DEFENSES OF ANTWERP

LONDON, Sept. 14.—In a dispatch from Antwerp, the correspondent of the Evening News says:

According to the German commanding officer from Aerschot who is now in prison here, the Germans firmly believe that the Antwerp forts are no match for their 15-inch siege guns of which he says they have 14. The range of these guns is about six miles and each piece can be fired only 20 times.

While confessing that the Germans are unable to spare enough men to invest Antwerp, this officer says he believes the siege guns will enable them to take a couple of the forts, thus giving access to the city. As a bombardment would be destructive to Antwerp, such action is not contemplated, because its harbor is too valuable an asset for Germany.

PRINCIPLE MUST STAND AHEAD OF PARTY NAME, DECLARES HENRY ALLEN

that all the Republican party wants to do. Why, we did that often and easier than anything else."

Allen declared he belonged to a party in which he could say he hoped Woodrow Wilson makes good. If he does, he said, he would vote for him in 1916, adding, "And if there is a Democrat here that has not already formed a resolution that if Woodrow Wilson does not make good he will not vote for him in 1916, he is not a good citizen."

Desires Political Parties.

The first part of his address Allen devoted to political parties, attempting to show that name means nothing. He cited as an instance how many people think of party before principle, the recent national convention of the Prohibitionist party in Clinton, Mo. Allen was invited to tell the convention what the Progressive party stood for. He said that unless one believed in national prohibition and national equal suffrage he was not a Progressive.

"I waited a moment for applause," he said. "And after a moment, 'Nary an applause.' I told them I knew I had made them mad. Several arose to take a hand in affairs. I told them I knew what they were displeased about. Then I pointed out one old fellow and said: 'You're going to say that your party has worked all this time to secure national prohibition and that now the Progressive party has made that issue one of its planks. In other words, the Progressives are stealing your thunder.' He admitted it, and the others said that was their objection."

Holding Party Before Principle.

"I caught them being party bigots. Instead of joining the larger party, which is working for the same end, they held their party before the principle. I caught the Republicans doing the same thing. And the Democrats and W. C. T. U. I expect the day will come when I'll catch the Progressives doing it."

"There's nothing sacred about a party name," Allen said later. "A political party is simply an organization of individual citizens. In some states it is not necessary. It has its leaders. When the leaders lead the party up a blind alley they lost their jobs. Then they hold harmony conferences to get their jobs back."

Speaking of harmony, he said: "In Kansas two big men went back to the Republican party, saying it was 50 per cent Progressive. But the 50 per cent came along and showed that it was 100 per cent. The Republicans said to Senator Bristow, 'Come back and we'll make you a burnt offering.' He did—and he was made the burnt offering."

Majority Men Progressive.

Allen went briefly over the history of political parties, showing they were for the most part located live in the beginning, breaking away from standard organizations, that the standard party finally got control and the party died. The Republican party, he said, was born Progressive. Everything went smoothly until about 13 years ago, when a change was noticed. It was soon found that there were two schools in it—one progressive, the other standard. Continuing:

"Theodore Roosevelt was just completing seven and one-half strenuous years in the White house, during which time he gave us all ideas ranging from the number of babies that should be around the altar to farm life. He looked his nose into everybody's business. But he came out at the end of his seven and one-half strenuous years the greatest individual citizen in the world."

The progressive school in the Republican party was looking for a leader, the speaker said, and Roosevelt came to the rescue. He sent Taft.

All Fooled in Taft.

"We were all fooled," Allen said, smiling. "I was fooled. I made 50 campaign speeches for Taft—or rather one speech 50 times."

The Kansas declared he believed Taft thought himself progressive when he took the reins, but discovered that Aldrich, Cannon, Guggenheim et al. were more reasonable, and then realized that he was reactionary. Taft, however, admitted he was a standard-bearer.

"I admire the man who will tell me he doesn't believe in my fool theories," Allen said. "I'll simply say, 'You stand here; I'm going on.'"

Conservatives are necessary to maintain a balance, he thinks. Just like a brake on an automobile, he said, adding that he wanted to be the motor and didn't want the brake to sit on the wheels and tell him it was running the car.

Speaking of standard-bearers, he told this: "I actually know a man who in a speech once said: 'What was good enough for George Washington is good enough for me.' I'll bet George Washington never said, 'What was good enough for Roosevelt is good enough for me.' George prayed to

OLD PARTIES HAVE FAILED; WHY SHOULDN'T PROGRESSIVES BE GIVEN TRIAL, ASKS ALLEN

ple. The true Progressives have remained with the organization and are just as enthusiastic now as ever. The only falling off has been of those who want the office. And they were never Progressives."

"The best reason the Progressives should win in Colorado is the high class of the candidates on the state ticket. No reasonable voter can become acquainted with the excellences of these men and Mrs. Riddle and not know that their election means a capable and honest government. They must know that these candidates will redeem every pledge of their party."

The state ticket, a program which all parties have adopted, and which

God for help to wreat America from the standpoint of Great Britain."

"I'm Not Going Back."

Then the speaker continued tracing the history of the Progressive party. He told of how an effort was made to reform it and of the stormy Chicago convention, after which: "We took the invitation of Taft made at 'Winona and left.'"

"No, sir, I'm not going back, because I'm in a hurry. The Republican party has got to get rid of a lot. It's not fixed for speed. It has two fronts and two heads. One the one hand, it says the initiative and referendum, and on the other, it says the autonomy of government toward the mob."

Allen said the Progressive party is the dynamite theory of government. On the other hand, LaFollette and Hadley and Cunniff say the Republican party stands for just these things. One end declares the other end doesn't exist.

"I don't want to linger around a party," he said. "I want to play politics, but don't want to play politics for good government with curiosities."

The Baltimore Convention.

Referring to the Democratic party, Allen said he couldn't forget the Baltimore convention, how it voted 17 times for Clark and a standard program, then changed over-night and voted for Wilson and a progressive program. He said he couldn't see hope of speed there, because it takes more than two leaders to make a party progressive.

"Let Wilson go to Murphy and say, 'Come, Murphy, let's adopt the platform or Kansas democratic and come out for national prohibition.' What would Murphy say—'Go to, thou'?"

Allen said he had seen the results of a half dozen states with the same results, drawing his point: "Before the Democratic party gets progressive it's got to get away from the bossism in control of some states. That takes time and I'm in a hurry. The Progressives don't have to hold harmony meetings to get all Progressives promoting at the same speed and in the same direction."

Allen spoke at some length on several of the Progressive principles. He said Senator Curtis of Kansas has said he will make his campaign on the tariff—"To protect us from the great industries of Germany, I suppose."

Broad Statesmanship Needed.

The speaker declared what is most needed now is statesmanship, broad enough to accept the challenge, to say to the farmers who want to feed the world, 'Get busy!' to the manufacturers of women's togas, 'Get busy!' to the manufacturers of cutlery, 'Get busy, the European manufacturing centers are closed.'"

"The Wilson-Underwood tariff bill is as good as any tariff bill could be that was written by guesswork," he said later. He told how he sat in the new gallery of the house in Washington and watched the bill written; how the expert testimony was given by importers. The Republican bill was the same, he declared.

"Where is the Progressive tariff bill? We would write it schedule by schedule and our expert testimony would be given by expert commissions, nonpartisan. We would put tariff in business, not politics." He cited how Germany had done so and how successful she had been.

"They laugh at our social program; say the subjects are fit only for welfare societies. We say they are for political organizations; that low wages for women and child labor are criminal. They say you can't build a party around the interests of women and children. Then perish every political party in America."

Allen then went back to parties, their name as principles.

"Will you take the chances of getting progressive government from a standard ticket or a progressive ticket on a progressive platform?" he asked. "Settle it. That's the only question."

Says Progressives Will Win.

"We're going to win. We already have received the approval of the old parties. Imitation is the highest flattery. They have imitated us. When you go to the polls you will find a headless ballot. Vote for the man you know is progressive, regardless of party. Elect the men to the party."

At the beginning of the meeting G. P. Dodge announced that each candidate present would be asked to make a five-minute speech. Exceptions were made for E. P. Costigan and Mrs. Agnes Riddle. In allotting Costigan more time, Dodge said it was to give him an opportunity to "state his position on the industrial question in this state."

Costigan first paid a high compliment to Allen, who was to follow him on the platform. He told of his magnificent leadership of the fight in the Chicago convention and declared that "the people of the United States can never forget the debt they owe Henry J. Allen."

E. P. Costigan Talks.

"We have had a sad year in Colorado," he said. "Two years ago we predicted it: we warned the people not to let the old parties handle the industrial situation, because the intensely 'controlled' them. The Republican policy is one of exploitation of property; it places property right above human right. The Democrats lay emphasis on the issue of liberty, freedom, trade, the right to do anything. We blessed with whatever happens to be on the earth. In Colorado they were opposed to conservation. Governor Ammons and several of us defied the question and we proved that the Democratic policy is the same in the end as that of the Republicans—property becomes sacred."

Tells of Strike Trouble.

"In 1894 there was a great strike in this state. There has been a great strike in every 10-year period. In 1904 the outbreak was near here, in Cripple Creek. Peabody, the Republican governor, with the aid of the intervention, who controlled the party, sent the state troops into the district to keep down uprisings. In 1911 we have another great strike. During the 10-year period preceding it Ammons spent most of his time in public denouncing Peabody's tyrannical practices; he called it. Because of his attacks he became lieutenant governor and then governor. Then in 1914 he duplicated Peabody's act; he became a second Peabody."

"Peabody left a million dollar debt, a debt incurred in putting down uprisings with the state militia. Ammons also leaves a million-dollar debt and it also is due to the militia being called out to crush industrial disturbances."

"Canada has a compulsory arbitration law which has been effective in hundreds of cases. New Zealand also has a similar law. Colorado, after 30 years of industrial trouble, can't do anything. If a strike came tomorrow we couldn't handle it. For 30 years our legislature has sat idly by, not profiting by experience."

The Progressive party probed to the vital the strike—the causes. The Democrats and Republicans have now appropriated them. But they have been so actively engaged in assisting special privilege that they have forgotten the people of the state. This great state has been too busy loaning its legislatures and governors to private business to protect its citizens from such consequences."

Should Control Coal Lands.

"Take the coal situation for an instance. The Progressives say coal, a necessity, should be a public utility. We take the stand that the state should control the coal lands, controlling the price of the product, the wage of the miner. Then if it is necessary the lands, which are school lands, can revert to the state and the people will be protected."

That shows the difference between the Progressive and Republican and Democratic parties. The Democrats say welfare within the state; the Republicans within the federal boundaries; the Progressives the welfare of the people first. If the constitution stands in the way, it must be amended, always the welfare of the people first. "In southern Colorado the interests for years have been saying, 'We rule.' Now the people have risen up and say, 'We rule.' And the 500,000 people of the state should rise up, take up the cry and say, 'WE RULE.'"

Christianity in Politics.

Mrs. Riddle was applauded almost continually and brought laughter after laughter from the crowd with her quaint remarks. She spoke with a German accent and her sayings were as funny. "When they told me I couldn't do anything in the legislature, I told them I could do everything a man could do, and I put my feet up on a desk and smoked a cigar," she said. The remark was characteristic of her entire speech.

Referring to the state belongs to a man, she said, "Some men would do better work for Colorado if they were home washing."

The office of the labor commissioner is not safe for a decent girl to go into," she said, telling of some changes she would bring about if elected. She ended with a plea for more Christianity in politics.

Griffith, referring to his reception by the colored men, said: "I'm experienced with Tigers. Some I've tried to train, others I've tried to skin. I'm out now after political tigers." He referred to Joseph C. Ewing, formerly coach of the Colorado college football team, saying he was glad the candidate intended to carry his football training to the supreme court if elected. "It will be a good thing if he can cut out some of the dinner parties he referred to and get the members to bed early; apply training rules," Griffith said.

Law, Order and Justice.

Ewing declared he would do everything possible to permit the supreme court to catch up with its docket, now from two to five years behind. P. H. Frothingham, candidate for lieutenant governor, spoke briefly on law, order and justice.

Merle D. Vincent also spoke on law and order, pointing out that it has not been in force because the people have not been able to impose on their officials that it was wanted.

Plan to Poison Drinking Water for the Soldiers
at Bulte Is Discovered

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 15.—An alleged plan to poison the drinking water of the 700 Montana militiamen now on duty here in connection with miners' riots was discovered today, and Fred Maggardot was arrested on order of Provost Marshal Frank Conley.

Maggardot was arraigned before Judge Advocate Route, where he was charged with having advised another person to place poison in the water pipes at the court house, where the militia is in camp.

Maggardot, a plumber's helper, and several other workmen were repairing the pipes, according to the authorities, when Maggardot used one of the men to place poison in the pipes. The suggestion was spurned and the officer was notified. Maggardot is held without bail. His hearing will come up tomorrow in the military court.

U. S. SIGNS TREATIES WITH FOUR NATIONS GUARANTEEING PEACE

Japan Holding Out Because of California Alien Land Controversy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—That Emperor William's reply to the informal peace inquiry of the United States which it is hoped will open the way to end the European war, is expected within the next few days, was revealed tonight.

The feeling of optimism in administration circles was heightened today by the signing of treaties between the United States, Great Britain, France, Spain and China, which it is believed will make armed conflict between the United States and these nations, almost, if not entirely, impossible.

The treaties provide that all disputes which cannot be settled by diplomacy shall be submitted to a permanent commission for investigation for one year.

Similar to Other Pacts.

Similar in principle to the treaties signed with Central and South America and a few European countries, 19 of which have been ratified by the senate, the four pacts signed today are regarded by officials and diplomats here as the most advanced step which the American government has taken to forward the cause of peace.

Immediately after the conventions were signed, Secretary Bryan dispatched telegrams to the American embassies and legations in Germany, Russia, Austria and Belgium notifying them of what had occurred and expressing the desire of the United States to sign similar treaties with those countries, all of which have endorsed the principle of the peace plan.

Japan Holding Out.

Japan alone has not accepted the principle or entered into negotiations. It became known today, because of the desire of the ministry there not to confuse the Japanese public while the alien land controversy is being adjusted.

Members of the cabinet and administration officials witnessed the signing ceremony in the office of the secretary of state. Mrs. Bryan and personal friends of the secretary were present. Afterward Mr. Bryan issued the following statement:

"The signing of the four treaties today with Great Britain, France, Spain and China brings under treaty obligations more than nine hundred millions of people. These, when added to the population of the United States and the population of the 22 countries with which similar treaties have heretofore been signed, brings under the influence of these treaties considerably more than two-thirds of the inhabitants of the globe."

War Now Almost Impossible.

"As these treaties all provide for investigation of all matters in dispute before any declaration of war or commencement of hostilities, it is believed that they will make armed conflict between the contracting nations almost, if not entirely, impossible. The government is gratified to take this long step in the direction of peace and is not only willing, but anxious to make similar treaties with all other nations large and small."

The cabinet officers, ambassadors and ministers who witnessed the signing of the treaties were given a luncheon at the University club later. Speeches were made there in advocacy of peace, but no direct reference was made to the present European war.

Will Receive Belgians.

President Wilson, it became known today, had made no reply to the messages from Emperor William and President Poincaré of France relating to the use of dudum bullets in the war.

The president tomorrow will receive the commission of Belgian officials who have come from their country especially to lay before him their complaint against alleged violations of civilized warfare in the German invasion. It is generally understood that the president will make a general statement after the Belgians have seen him, covering their protest as well as the messages from the German emperor and the French president, relating the neutrality of the United States.

"The Red Cross society," said Mr. McKim, "is divided into three distinct divisions—the war relief board, the national relief board and the international relief board. The war relief board is active in providing funds, nurses, surgeons and sanitary equipment during times when our country is so unfortunate as to be drawn into war. The national relief board provides funds in times of national catastrophes such as the San Francisco fire, the Ohio floods and other calamities."

"The international relief board is doing its great work now in aiding the suffering in Europe. This division of the society maintains a strict supervision of the work, bringing about rapidity of execution and offering relief where it is most needed."

Removes Cause of Ill Will.

"The Mexican chief continued—and he was supported by Generals Villa and Obregon—that the Mexican people, presence of American troops on Mexican soil, and would be bound to cherish resentment, no matter how well intentioned the American government would not understand the continued war or how acquiescent the Mexico City administration itself might be."

"Until today the Washington government had not decided upon any fixed time for the withdrawal of its forces, and awaited negotiations with the new government on the subject. At first, the president believed it desirable to keep American forces at Vera Cruz for salutary effect, hoping that a Constitutional election would be conducted fairly, and the troops brought back after a constitutionally elected executive was in power."

"The Constitutional chief figured, however, that no election could be free and without compulsion with a part of Mexican territory controlled by American troops. He pointed out, too, that the question of the American troops might soon become a domestic issue which might cause internal dissension."

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOthers YOU, DRINK LOTS OF WATER

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that irritate the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 800 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water, you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacy a glass of water and add a pinch of this famous salt. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot hurt; relieves a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, it's keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

appeal to every principle of true citizenship."

The Rev. James H. Spencer, pastor of the First Baptist church, made a short address, urging the members of the committee to greater activity and asking that all donations be made with a spirit of self-sacrifice rather than merely "a change in bookkeeping."

"The money that is given for this great cause should not be taken from some other charity," he said. "Rather, we should demand ourselves some luxury that we might help those who need our assistance."

No call for subscriptions was made at the meeting. However, the treasurer of the committee was present and several contributions were received. It is the plan to publish the names of donors at frequent intervals. The local chapter of the society has already forwarded $500 to the headquarters at Washington and other amounts will be sent as fast as obtained.

our duty to respond to your earnest wish. We do so, therefore, as we trust in the true spirit of American citizenship.

The acceptance is signed by John P. White, president, Frank J. Hayes, vice president and William Green, secretary.

The terms accepted by the miners and also placed before the Colorado operators in a letter to President Wilson of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company by President Wilson provide in brief as follows:

A three-year truce, the appointment of a grievance committee by the president; open shop conditions; removal of strikers not found guilty of crimes during the strike, and the withdrawal of federal troops from the district.

ADJOURN WITHOUT REACHING A VOTE

"Mother" Jones Calls President Wilson "Another Lincoln" in Force Speech

TRINIDAD, Colo., Sept. 15.—The United States government and the international organization of the United Mine Workers of America today united in a plan to accept the peace plan drawn up by a board of federal mediators and endorsed by President Wilson. The mine workers' convention adjourned until tomorrow without reaching a vote.

Following an address by Frank Hayes, vice president of the union, advocating adoption of the proposal on behalf of the international officers, William R. Patton, one of the two arbitrators appointed by the secretary of labor to hold the delegates that it is "suicide" for them to reject the agreement.

"Are you going to put the president of the United States in a position where he will be ridiculed by capitalists all over the country?" he demanded.

"Mother" Jones then said: "I don't believe you are going to let it slide, the federal mediator added. 'I believe you're going to accept this proposition.'

"If the federal troops are withdrawn while the strike is in progress, God only knows what will happen."

Hayes in his speech told the delegates that the union had spent $244,000 since the strike. He urged the acceptance of the president's proposal as embodying the best terms obtainable and a decided improvement over conditions before the strike.

In the course of Patton's speech, "Mother" Jones created a sensation by declaring she saw a "Colorado Fuel and Iron company" speaker in the hall "taking notes for the C. P. E. I."

"Thank him out by the neck," she shouted.

The speaker turned out to be a reporter for a Trinidad newspaper conducted by the United Mine Workers of America.

Free Wilson "Another Lincoln"

"Thank God we've got a great man another Lincoln in the person of the president at Washington," said Volney Davis, Jones' spokesman, in a speech today before the convention.

And the cheers which greeted the tribute to the president brought smiles to the faces of those officers of the United Mine Workers of America who are advocates of the peace plan.

"Mother" Jones, who admits authorship of the famous "State of the Union" speech, appeared in a speech today as a peace-maker. The speech will also disappear the day after tomorrow.

The convention got under way at 10 o'clock.

BELGIANS TREATED AS SLAVES BY GERMANS, SAYS LONDON REPORT

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The official press bureau acting for the Belgian legation in London, has made public the second report of the Belgian commission appointed to inquire into alleged German atrocities at Louvain and in the district around Malines.

This report reviews incidents here before generally reported, but it adds the documents and evidence on which its conclusions rest.

The commission finds that on entering Louvain the German troops took food and lodging. German troops took possession of the cash in all the Louvain banks, burnt open houses and pillaged and committed other excesses.

The report then relates with considerable detail two alleged incidents in which women were outraged by German soldiers and asserts that there have been instances where women and children have been stabbed with bayonets and their legs cut off. One case is cited where a workman, covered with kerosene, was thrown into a burning house.

Of the burning of Louvain the report says:

Everything tends to prove that German soldiers committed a mistake fired at one another. Once the Germans began bombing the town, pretending that civilians had fired on their troops, a situation denied by all witnesses.

To spread the lie in Louvain the report charges Germans entered the houses and threw hand grenades. The commission contends that from several places in Belgium the male population has been sent to Germany and forced to work at harvesting as if they were slaves.

The Russian, won their victories in Galicia and Poland not only because they had a superior force but because according to correspondents their artillery was superior to that of the Austrians and the Germans.

Petrograd losses that when General Rennenkampf gets his reinforcements he will be able to defeat the Germans.

Military men are most anxious to see how the Russians compare as fighting men against the perfectly trained Germans.

The Serbians and Montenegrins according to Rome dispatches after the capture of Vukovar, Bosnia by the Serbians and of Fatcha, Bosnia by the Montenegrins, joined forces and now are advancing along the entire front. All these troops are veterans with long fighting experience and are expected to give a good account of themselves.

of which fought against the British in the South African war, are reported to have just won a victory over the Germans whom they are said to have expelled from Ramansdrift.

This may be the forerunner of what may develop into a serious battle. The Germans have a strong force of German Southwest Africa and already have threatened the borders of the Union of South Africa.

Therefore before long the Germans, who sympathized with the Boers in their war with Great Britain, may be opposed by the same Boers who are now fighting for Great Britain.

From Berlin comes the report that the German cruiser Hela has been sunk by a submarine boat. The admiral here had no confirmation of this and there is as much mystery about the case as surrounded the sinking of the British cruiser Pathfinder by a German submarine. If the report should prove correct, it would mean that the submarines of both countries are making some daring raids.

against the right wing of General Danik and Von Aulenberg.

Meanwhile the Russian army is free to move toward Thorn, Prussia, a town of some 27,000 inhabitants on the right bank of the Vistula near Bromberg and General Rennenkampf can look for reinforcements for his army, which had fallen back with the German advance in East Prussia.

The Russians won their victories in Galicia and Poland not only because they had a superior force but because according to correspondents their artillery was superior to that of the Austrians and the Germans.

LOS ANGELES 'REAL ESTATE CONSPIRACY,' INSTEAD OF A CITY

Coast City Is Given Another Black Eye on 1000-46 Labor Situation

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Sept. 15.—The waste of the $34,000,000 industrial relations commission ended with its hearing here today. Most of the commissioners will leave tomorrow for their homes. A preliminary report of the findings west of Chicago will be drawn up in Chicago some time in October and submitted to Congress on November 1. Conditions in California industries will be investigated in hearings beginning about November 15.

Real estate speculation schemes and the ownership of homes here by workers were the chief subjects investigated today. Only about 10 per cent of the workers own their homes, it was testified, but 80 per cent of them are trying to pay for homes in monthly installments.

Real Estate Conspiracy.

A real estate conspiracy, and not a municipality, was the manner in which Frank E. Wolfe, a Socialist editor, who formerly was managing editor of the Los Angeles Herald, designated this city.

Mr. Wolfe also charged that fine roads were being built into sparsely settled mountain sections by unfortunates arrested as vagrants in order to enhance the value of property. Most of these roads, he said, never were used by any one except motor car owners.

"Blanket stiffs, or men with little or no money, are sentenced to work from 10 to 20 days on these roads," he testified. "The state laws permit the county to pay these men $1.50 a day for their work, but instead, the county supervisors pay them from 10 to 30 cents a day. Many return here with little money and with hatred in their hearts for society, get drunk and then go out armed with pieces of gas pipe. That is why we have a crime wave every winter."

Shotgun in Evidence.

Joseph F. Switzer, carpenter, testified that several real estate firms here will not employ workers unless they turn back part of their wages for stock in the company for which they are working.

A saved-off shotgun 40 of which the Los Angeles police recently bought, was introduced as an exhibit by Mr. Wolfe. He mounted the platform on which the commission was sitting and demonstrated the rapid-firing possibilities of the firearm.

"Every group of persons that I know of in this city except union labor has an arsenal," he declared.

Mr. Wolfe's views of the local struggle between employers and employees is pessimistic. He said he retired from the local merchants and manufacturers association did not like F. J. Boehndorfer, secretary of the organization, testified in rebuttal to various witnesses that local officials are as ready to protect workers as employers.

LAWSON IS CHARGED WITH 12 MURDERS; GIVES UP IN TRINIDAD

TRINIDAD, Sept. 15.—John R. Lawson, Colorado member of the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, was charged with 12 murders.

He was arrested on a grand jury warrant today charged with an assault on a miner.

With the coal miners' strike he was released on $15,000 bond. Lawson is accused of the following deaths:

Mack Powell, killed October 9, 1913; John Nimmo, killed October 25, 1913; Tony Heno, Joseph Uppson, George Hall, S. A. Newman, M. Newman, Edward Kessler, Gentry Murfak, Jacob Smith and K. Ito, all killed in the battle of Forbes, April 29, 1914.

Lawson is charged with six attempts to murder Walter Bell, October 7, and Z. L. Martin, October 27, 1913. He is also accused of arson in connection with the attack on the Forbes mine.

Soon after his arrival from Denver today, Lawson went along to the sheriff's office to give himself up. He was told to go to the district court and arrange for bond and return when his bond was ready.

Felix Sippi, a striker from Superior, was arrested on a grand jury warrant today charged with an assault on a miner.

Loyal Anticipation of Motherhood

There is apt to be a latent apprehension of distress to mar the complete joy of expectant mothers. But this is quite overcome by the advice of our "Mother's Friend." This is an external application designed to soothe the muscles and to thus so relieve the pressure reacting on the nerves, that the mother is not accompanied by those severe pains and to cause nausea, morning sickness and many local distresses. Many people believe that those remedies which have stood the test of time, that have been put to every trial under the varying conditions of age, weight, general health, etc., may be safely relied upon. And judging by the fact that "Mother's Friend" has been in continual use since our grandmothers' earlier years, and is known throughout the United States, it may be safely inferred that it is something that women gladly rely on. "Mother's Friend" is prepared only in our own laboratory and is sold by druggists everywhere. Ask for a bottle to-day and write for a special book for expectant mothers. Address: J. H. # C. H. DUDLEY IS HONORED

MY BLUE LAUREL MARKS

Placed Most Worshipful Grand Master for Colorado, the Highest Office in State

Charles H. Dudley of this city was elected most worshipful grand master for the state of Colorado by the grand lodge of Masons, which opened in Denver yesterday. The office is the highest honor in the gift of the blue-lodge Masons of the state. For the last year Mr. Dudley has been deputy grand master, and his election to the highest office yesterday was unanimous and enthusiastic. He has attained the highest degrees of Masonry in both the York and the Scottish rites, and will make the thirty-third degree to complete the honors that Masonry can bestow upon him. This city now has two supreme officers in fraternal bodies in the state, Frank F. Schreiber recently having been elected grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias.

Mr. Dudley was born in 1869 in Lyndon, Ill., and from the High school went to Cornell college at Mt. Vernon, from which he was graduated in 1894. He then entered the law office of Judge W. J. McCoy and a year later the law department of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, graduating in 1896. In 1897 he moved to Rocky Ford, Colo., and started the practice of law, moving to Colorado Springs in 1898, the year of his marriage to Miss Fannie M. Holroyd. He has made his home in this city ever since and has advanced to the top notch of his profession.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley have three children, Marjorie, Donald and Dorothy.

His Masonic record follows: Was initiated July 10; passed July 24 and raised August 14, 1891 in Lyndon Lodge No. 750, A. F. & A. M., at Lyndon, Ill. He was initiated into this lodge and became a charter member of Acacia lodge No. 55, A. F. & A. M., at Colorado Springs, Colo., in 1891, in which lodge he was elected and served as junior warden in 1892 and senior warden in 1893. He was also a charter member of Tejon Lodge No. 104, A. F. & A. M., constituted at Colorado Springs in 1898. He served as junior warden in this lodge while under dispensation and until the annual election in December, 1901, and was elected and served as senior warden in 1902.

He received the "golden ring" as in the prophet's chapter No. 174, R. A. M., at Philadelphia, Ill., having been advanced "first 10, indicated Vexed 30, received and acknowledged April 8, and exalted April 16, 1897. Dinitied November 12, 1891, and affiliated with Colorado Springs chapter No. 5, R. A. M., December 22, 1901, in which he served as captain of the host in 1911, wrote in 1908 and excellent high priest in 1910.

He received the degree of the oryxite rite in Zulu council No. 3, R. & B. M., at Colorado Springs in 1907, and was elected and served as deputy master in 1908 and thirteenth high priest master in 1909.

He received the orders of knighthood in Pike's Peak commandery No. 8, K. T., at Colorado Springs, having been constituted a companion of the illustrious Order of the Red Cross, June 27, 1907, and created a Knight Templar, July 18, 1907, and Knight of Malta, December 5, 1908. He served as warden in 1908, senior warden in 1909, captain general in 1910 and eminent commandery in 1912.

He received the degree of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite from the fourth to the thirty-second inclusive, in Delta lodge of Perfection No. 1, Mackay chapter of Rose Croix No. 1, Denver council of Kadash No. 1, and Colorado council No. 1, at the semiannual reunion of these bodies in Denver, October 25, 30 and 31, 1908. In the M. W. grand lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Colorado he was appointed junior grand steward in 1907, senior grand steward in 1908, junior grand deacon in 1909, grand deacon in 1910, senior grand warden in 1911 and deputy grand master in 1912.

PLAN TO FINANCE LOCAL INDUSTRIES NOT DECIDED

Plans for the financing of industrial plants, which were presented by the trade and industries committee of the Chamber of Commerce some time ago, were considered in detail at a meeting of the board of directors with members of this committee and with representatives of banks of the city last night. The meeting was called for the purpose of giving the matter detailed consideration, and the whole subject of industrial development was gone into in detail. It was the aim of the meeting that a systematic effort be made to learn what industrial development should be encouraged, and what lines of manufacturing may be carried on advantageously and successfully in this locality.

While the general idea of the plans of the committee was received with favor, and while it was the feeling that action should be taken along the line suggested, it was decided that the present is not an opportune time for the inauguration of such a campaign. The committee was continued, with the request that it carry on its investigations and report later.

AVIATOR FLIES FROM SPRINGS TO PUEBLO

Cooks Makes Trip in Safety, though Circuitous Supply Oversee Landing

Leaving the prairie near the Roswell race track at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning, Aviator Weldon B. Cooke landed at the state fair grounds in Pueblo at 3:12 o'clock, having covered a distance of about 45 miles in three hours, and 53 minutes. Five miles northeast of Pueblo the plane ran short of gasoline and Cooke was compelled to veer to the ground. He managed to get into communication with the authorities at the fair and an extra supply was sent to him.

More than 1,500 people watched the start of the flight at Roswell. Owing to a delay caused by a leak in the gasoline tank the plane did not leave the ground until 11:30 o'clock. After flying low for some distance Cooke attained more speed and rose to a height of several hundred feet above the ground. He started north and circled to the eastward near Austin Bluffs and Cragnor sanatorium, then south almost directly over the Printers home and on down the valley to Pueblo.

According to a report received last night the propeller on the machine was broken on the first landing and Cooke was forced to delay his flight to the fair grounds until an extra one was sent from Colorado Springs. Had it not been for the accident Cooke probably would have made the distance in little more than an hour. As it was he engaged to repair the plane and made a pretty flight over the city where his performance was watched by several thousands of people.

AFRICAN M. E. CONFERENCE TO BEGIN SESSIONS TODAY

All Meetings Will Be Held in Payne Chapel With Bishop Parks of Chicago Presiding

The annual conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church will open in Payne chapel this morning and will continue in session for one week. Bishop H. B. A. D. D. of Chicago will preside. Officers from the south and west will attend the meeting and about 50 delegates are expected.

The African M. E. church is the largest and strongest organization of colored people in America. It has over 750,000 members, provided over 15 colored bishops, two of whom live in Africa. It is the oldest branch of the Methodist Episcopal church and owns and controls educational institutions in the southern states. Its leading college is Wilberforce.

Addresses of welcome will be made by Mayor McPherson, the Rev. W. E. Bennett and others. Colored citizens in Colorado Springs are planning to entertain the delegates. Meals will be served in the basement of the church every day, free to all representatives.

KONFER RETURNED PASTOR, TOURIST MEMORIAL CHURCH

Begins Sixth Consecutive Year, Here; New Church and Manor Will Be Completed in Next Few Months

The Colorado conference of the United Brethren in Christ, which has been holding its forty-fourth annual session here since September 10, closed today. It was pronounced one of the best and most progressive ever held. The attendance was not as large as usual, due to the fact that it was held in the south central part of the state, and the distance was too great for those who generally attend as visitors.

The stationing committee reported the assignment of pastors for the ensuing year just before the final adjournment. The appointments in which the people here are most interested follow:

Frading bishop Cyrus J. Kephart, D. D., Kansas City, Mo.

Conference superintendents—Henry Irving Kohler, south district, T. A. Reiser, north district, A. J. Springston, east district.

Appointments—Akron and Bryant, A. J. Springston; Berthoud, H. M. Tipword; Dilly chapel, S. A. Fisher; Erie circuit, to be supplied; Elbert, to be supplied; Kansas valley, Himes H. Flory; Longmont, J. N. Hanes; Loveland, T. A. Reiser; Mead, W. E. Wilson; Muliken, J. W. Cleaver; Niwot, E. G. Owens; Pease, John C. Kulp; Pueblo, Allen Rhen; Sloton, T. V. Newell; South Memorial, Denver, Glenn Spafford; Tourist Memorial, Henry Irving Kohler.

Church to Be Completed

One of the most discussed measures of the conference sessions was the completion of Tourist Memorial church, where the meetings were held. The general church officials who were present presented the plan for its completion, and already the pastor Henry Irving Kohler, who has just been returned for his sixth consecutive year, said he was anxious to see the church completed. The church is a masterpiece of modern architecture and is located on the corner of Nevada avenue and Vanido street, east of the court house. It is a gratifying to the pastor and his people that their church stood second in the sum total number of points on efficiency. Only one church in the state gained two points over the local congregation. The congregation is at work over the return of Mr. Kohler for another year, and all praise be to the best year of all for the church under his efficient leadership.

COURT GRANTS INJUNCTION AGAINST MIDWEST COMPANY

Operators Not Permitted to Work on 11 Acre Tract in New Grass Creek Field

According to reports received yesterday, the first round in the dispute over 900 acres of oil land in the New Grass creek, Wyo. field, between the Midwest Refining company of this city and California capitalists has been won by the latter. Judge Mendenhall of Cheyenne has issued a restraining order prohibiting the Midwest company from working on the 900 acres in question. The two concerns had outfits boring for oil close to one another and it was a day and night race to determine who would make the first discovery. The case probably will go to the higher courts, particularly if the land in question develops into good oil territory.

In the Casper field, it is reported that the Northwestern Oil company has recently made a good showing and that it is now producing 250 barrels of oil a day. The oil being sold to the Midwest Refining company. Reports that drilling on land south of Graybull, Wyo., has been successful has stimulated interest in that district and south to Wain and Bonanza, which are believed to be in the same oil zone.

Heaters, like everything else, have to undergo changes and improvements in order to give satisfaction to the store-using public. Why use the old fashioned straight draft heaters, when a more satisfactory stove is offered you in the Howard Overdraft Heaters, costing you no more than other stoves, and can be operated with half the fuel?

Special Features of the Howard Heaters:

The Inverted Conical Rose, by means of which the heat is radiated directly to the floor, warming the floor perfectly.

The Diaphragm Check Draft, preventing the waste of heat by escape up the flue, thus utilizing practically all the heat produced by the fuel, and

The Intensely Heated Overdraft, which supplies the proper amount of oxygen to produce and maintain a perfect combustion, utilizing as fuel all the gases and combustible elements of the coal, rendering the stove practically smokeless, and explains why The Howard consumes so much less fuel than other stoves.

A SCENE FROM "OUR WIVES" AT THE BURNS THIS WEEK. WITH MATINEE TODAY AND SATURDAY.

AT THE BURNS

Brilliant, effective, stirring, no less than the pleasant comedy of "Our Wives," which is the attraction this week at the Burns, are the predominant characteristics that make for a most enjoyable offering for the week of the Burns Players. In the plot of the play, a high school group of four eligible bachelors and their newly acquired wives, there is ample field for fun and of course an individual appeal to the advantages, pros and cons of married life contrasted with the single blessedness ideal of a good many men. It is exactly the same situations as those which every one meets with in real life, but the bright sayings and laughable situations carry out the comedy idea most pleasantly. For the closing week of summer stock the Burns management announces a special scale of prices, which should meet with the approval of theatergoers.

Mother Stanislaus Tells of Recovery

Neglected throat trouble, and continued coughs and colds, often weaken the system. Investigative reports of recoveries brought about by Eckman's Alternative are everywhere. In San Antonio, Tex., in February, 1911, four doctors examined my throat and pronounced the necessity of an operation. Having heard of Eckman's Alternative, I determined as a last resort to try it. After taking four or five bottles large pieces of diseased tissue came away. I continued the Alternative, to my grateful and fairly rapid recovery. In ten months I was restored to perfect health. I would like to see and hear from my own lips if the so desire all I would say of it. (Abbreviated) MOTHER STANISLAUS. Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and upbuilding the system. Contains no harmful or habit forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Small size 12 cent bottle. Sold by leading druggists. Write Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet of recoveries.

MARANVILLE IS THERE IN STARTING DOUBLE PLAYS

Diminutive Shortstop of Braves Has Started 38 Thus Far. Will New Record

By ERNEST J. LANIGAN.

Walter Maranville, diminutive shortstop of the Braves, is leading both major leagues in starting double plays this season, and probably will set a new record in this respect. The agile infielder, up to September 12, had made the most moves in 36 two-play killings, which was eight more than any other National or American League player had set under way. The "Rabbit," greatest rival at taking the initiative in starting double plays, is Owen Bush of the Tigers. He has 24 to his credit.

This is the third season statisticians have kept track of the number of double plays each major league has started. The top-notch figure previously was 41, Arthur Fletcher of the Giants, setting this number of run-smothering stunts in motion in 1912. Last year the National league leader was Bob Flesher of Brooklyn, with 36, to his pitcher. The American league's pace-setters were Jack Barry of Philadelphia in 1912, with 34, and Owen Bush of Detroit and Ray Chapman of Cleveland in 1913, with 33. Maranville will undoubtedly smash all previous records to infinitesimal smithereens. Experts are of the opinion that he will be a Chalmers car winner this year, as well.

Maranville has started about 39 per cent of the double plays made by the Braves. Bush takes credit for setting in motion 38 per cent of the Tigers' double killings, the records of the other shortstops in starting double plays being as follows:

National league—Wagner, Pirates, 35 per cent; Herzog, Reds, 27 per cent; Corridon, Cubs, 23 per cent; Fletcher, Giants, 21 per cent; O'Mara, Superbas, 13 per cent; Martin, Phillies, 12 per cent; Butler, Cardinals, 11 per cent. American league—McBride, Senators, 30 per cent; Barry, White Elephants, 26 per cent; Scott, Red Sox, 25 per cent; Peckinpaugh, Yankees, 19 per cent; Weaver, Browns, 17 per cent; Chapman, Naps, 15 per cent.

The second baseman who started the most double plays this year is Larry Doyle of the Giants in the National and De.lli Platt of the Browns in the American. Each athlete has inaugurated 19. Miller Huggins of the Cardinals has started 18, and Johnny Evers, Maranville's side partner, 15. The Maranville-Evers-Schmidt combination

BOSTON BEATS BROOKLYN AND INCREASES LEAD

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—By defeating Brooklyn 7 to 5 while Philadelphia was beating New York today, the Boston team increased its lead in the pennant race by a full game. The visitors hammered James' delivery hard, getting 15 hits to Boston's seven, but the local twirler was strong in the pinches. Brooklyn used three pitchers, the best of whom was Aitchison, the last to go in, who held Boston to one hit during five innings. Maranville's throw from deep short for the third out in the eighth inning with men on second and third base, was a feature.

PHILADELPHIA, 4; NEW YORK, 3

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—Philadelphia defeated New York today, 4 to 3, giving the home team the series by 3 games to 2. As Boston won, New York lost a full game in the race for the pennant. The visitors made nine hits and received five bases on balls, but the home twirler was "usually very effective in the pinches. Fromme, settled down after being hit hard in the first inning, but in the fifth Philadelphia scored the runs which decided the issue on Burns' shift of Alexander's fly, a single by Lohr, a forecourt and Miller's triple. Fletcher and Donlin were ordered to the club house in the fourth inning for disputing with Umpire.

is destined to be a star as a dynamo in manufacturing double plays as the celebrated trio of "Fletcher, Evers and Chance. The last year Johnny and Joe worked together they started 16 double killings, while this season Evers and Maranville, heretofore unregarded, led with each other's style of play, have started 33, with the season not over yet by a long shot.

A motorcycle pleasure trip to Chicago and Milwaukee is being made by three Freeport, Ill. boys, Royal Wheat, Abe Cole and Roy Hansen.

ATHLETICS MAY STRIKE SNAG IF GIANTS LOSE

Opponents Won't Be Afraid and Offensive and Defensive Tactics Won't Be Known

By FRANK G. MENKE

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Down in Wall street there are some folks who are willing now to bet 3 to 1 that the Athletics will win the world series, no matter who their opponents happen to be. If the Giants oppose the Athletics it seems to us that the long and bettors have a good chance of collecting. The Athletics, as previously pointed out, seem to have the Giants buffaloed. The Giants have been beaten so often by the Athletics that it's become a habit with them to take a beating.

The Athletics outclass the Giants this year in every department of the game. Their pitching staff seems to be stronger and more reliable, their catching staff is steady and can hit, their infield so far overshadows the Giants that there's no comparison and even in the outfield the Philadelphia have a big edge.

Added to all this is the biggest factor in favor of the Athletics—they seem to have the number of the Giants. But if the Athletics go against either the Braves, Cards or Cubs there might be a different story to tell when reviewing the result of the 1914 world series. None of the three teams mentioned seem any stronger than the Giants, but they would go into battle with a different spirit than the Giants. They wouldn't be that feeling akin to fear. And furthermore, the Athletics who are so familiar with the offensive and defensive tactics of the Giants would be up against a different proposition if they had to face another team.

The Athletics have battled against Mathewson, Marquard, Teareau and Demaree. They know pretty well what each pitcher has in the way of curve and speed. They know that they can hit those twirlers and straight ones for homers. They are confident that the pitching of the Giant quartet cannot deceive them.

But if they had to bat against James, Frier and Rudolph of the Braves, or the first string pitchers of the Cubs or Cards, it would be a different proposition altogether. They don't know what those pitchers would offer in a pinch. They don't know just what each has in his own line. They would have to learn that during the series. They wouldn't have previous knowledge as they would have if the Giants were their foes.

It's the same thing with the Athletics' pitchers. They know from past experience just the kind of balls the Giants can hit—and the kind they can't hit. But if they were pitted against another team it would be a different proposition. They would have to "feel out" the batters and during the "feeling out" process they might get humiliated for some long time that would spell disaster for the winning chances of their club.

The Athletics outfielders know pretty well where to play for drives from the Giant sluggers. But they don't know exactly where to play for the hitters on the other clubs.

WILLIE NOPPE

After having practiced the British style of play daily for more than a month, Willie Noppe, the young American champion, thinks he is now competent to beat Melbourne Human, the English title holder, at his own game when the international battle comes off September 18. Speaking of the British style of play Noppe says: "I feel that I have mastered the technique of the English game, to the extent that, if the war permits, I shall be a competitor for the English championship next year. It is a splendid game after you have got onto its curves."

THESE OLD FELLOWS JUST SIMPLY WON'T STAY DEAD

Fitz and McCoy Try Comeback; Now Joe Wolcott Needs Cash and Is "Just as Good Today"

By FRANK G. MENKE

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The old boys simply won't stay dead. Bob Fitzsimmons started. He arose from his pugilistic coffin some moons back and challenged all the white hopes in sight.

"They be bloom'n' duffers," declared Fitz. "I'll be a rawther old fellow but I can lick 'em all." The boxing commission in New York state, however, crimped Fitz's comeback ambition. They said he was quite too ancient to battle in these parts. But the publicity that Fitz got inspired some of the other chaps who used to battle quite regularly just about the time that Alexander was looking around for a few more worlds to conquer.

Joe McCoy, the shifty person of this age, how an elderly fat person, became afflicted with "come back" again. He went into training, matched himself for a scrap with a never-winner, and insists that not only can he win but he can win nearly everybody else.

Joe Wolcott, who is said to have been quite an old person when the Civil war began, is back in the midst of things again. Joseph discovered some weeks back that his family ladder was running shy of bacon and training some fellow, not a boxing promoter to judge the doing, and as Joe puts it, "I'll be a rawther old fellow but I can lick 'em all."

"You're pretty old for such active work as boxing," someone told Joe. "What? Me old?" exclaimed Joe, surprised and offended. "Ah! have you know, sah, that I ain't werry, werry old. And Ah's just as good today as a hull lot of them fellah's what's gittin' de coin for puttin' up what they calls fights."

Somebody must have kidded that syndicate that is said to be backing Jess Willard into believing that Willard is a fighter. And it's a pretty safe bet that most of them never have seen him in a scrap. If they had it would be more "well passing strange" that they should invest even 10 cents in the big cowboy.

SIR JOHN FRENCH HERO OF THE WAR

Daring British Cavalry Leader Terrible Foe to the German Army

By ROBERT EASTON.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—All England today is cheering for Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary force fighting in France, against the Germans. Londoners have almost forgotten that only a few short weeks ago it now seems ages—French resigned from the army because of the difference between the government and certain distinguished officers over the question of using British troops to put down the threatened uprising in India. French sided with the officers.

In those days which now appear as dim as ancient history, the Irish home rule question was all-absorbing. The British press devoted almost as much space to the now forgotten muddle as today they give to the European war. The resignation of Sir John French created a sensation.

Prime Minister Asquith, in the house of commons, voiced profound regret that the splendid career of so distinguished a soldier should have come to a premature close. The prime minister, though, added the now common prophetic words that he still regarded the special abilities of Sir John French as a future asset of the nation in the event of war.

Asquith spoke truer perhaps than he knew. Within six weeks, French was again summoned into the military councils of the nation in which for some time he had been the head, with the title of inspector general. His resignation was forgotten and a few days later the world learned that a British force was on the continent to aid the French against the legions of the Kaiser, and that Sir John French was at its head as commander-in-chief.

Chief Characteristic Stubbliness. The chief physical characteristic of Sir John French is stubbliness. For he is stubby in figure, wears a stubby mustache, almost always is chewing on a stubby cigar, and has the capacity for tremendous physical exertion over long stretches that only the stubby can endure.

He is restless and swift-moving man whose duties on the battlefield have so far been confined to carrying out with surprising vision, at the pace his fine cavalry set, the orders of others who have entrusted to him one part of a combined movement. In these last few days of the war, French is called upon to perform an almost identical function as the troops, of which he is in supreme command, are but one part of the most stupendous combined movement upon a field of battle.

staff, which is the title of the first military member of the general staff of the army which controls not merely the home forces but also the disposition and direction of all the military resources within the imperial dominions.

He has, therefore, held the chief military place in the general army command, which came into being under the direction of Lord Haldane, who reorganized the British army from 1907 up to now along the lines of the German military organization. He was made a field marshal last year.

Earns High Praise. Sir John French is under no delusions as to the formidable force with which he is in conflict. Brilliant and daring as this leader of cavalry has always been, he will attempt no movement of offense for which calm deliberation would not support his expectation of success. Already in this war he has earned high praise from the French and British governments.

When the Boer war broke out in 1899 and the British forces began to blunder through it somehow, the first lesson that the English learned was that the ancient triumphs of the British army could not be sustained by any organization not constructed on utilitarian principles. French, unfortunately for its great past, with officers in high command for almost any other reason than their fitness, the British army in South Africa for the first few months of the war, went from blunder to blunder.

The astonished British nation woke up. The British war office stirred it to action. Lord Kitchener of Khartoum was made chief of staff—just as in the present war he was called to be secretary of state for war—and almost his first act was to employ Col. John French, who had a fine fighting record in India and the Sudan, as the head of the cavalry.

NEWS OF THE BOWLERS

The Sun Diego bowler, Frank Wain, from The Gazette, quit last night. He left the city on the last train that moved before the beleaguered place was relieved. Then began a series of British successes that finally delivered into the German hands of the Boers, and an almost pure success. The moment of note from French and a part of the fact that Field Marshal Sir John French is an Irishman may explain a lot. It has been known the luck of the Irish to be permitted to get into the real fighting.

Forty Autos Going to State Fair Tomorrow Big Excursion for Springs Day at Pueblo

More than 40 Colorado Springs people are planning to enter their cars in the automobile excursion to the State fair in Pueblo tomorrow, and a big local delegation will compete in the decorated auto parade at night. Tomorrow is "Colorado Springs day," and local motorists mean to make it complete by carrying off the handsome silver cup offered by the Pueblo Commerce club for the best decorated out-of-town car.

The excursion has been arranged by the Chamber of Commerce through the local and industrial, the All-Colorado and tourist travel committees. The automobile will start from the Burns building at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and an average speed of 25 miles an hour will be maintained. It is expected that there will be a large number of machines and the cars will draw for position. Motorists will not be allowed to pass each other on the way.

Pilot Cars Meet Others.
Pilot cars from Pueblo will meet the visitors at the outskirts of the town, and when all the autos have reached that point they will form in line for a parade through the city to the State fair grounds.

Chairman W. E. McClung will head the procession, and the schedule has been arranged with a view to comfort rather than speed. Each car owner is requested to carry on his machine a

OGDEN GATEWAY MATTER AGAIN UNDER DISCUSSION

R. S. Ruble of Union Pacific Says
Closing It Will Increase Colorado
Travel From South

At a meeting of the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, R. S. Ruble, assistant general passenger agent of the Union Pacific railroad, discussed the matter of the closing of the Ogden gateway from the viewpoint of his road.

He claimed that any decrease in stopover business at Colorado Springs, which might be effected by limited travel from points south and east over lines which formerly have transferred passengers to the Denver & Rio Grande railroad at Pueblo. This traffic must direct advantage of Colorado Springs, to Denver where it is transferred to the Union Pacific. He said that increased stopover privileges, which the Union Pacific would allow on certain classes of tickets, would work to the direct advantage of Colorado Springs. He said that the fact that the Ogden gateway is now closed from Denver to Colorado Springs, he advised the committee that he would take up with his road suggestions which it presented for the wider advertising and use of such side trips, which would mean increased publicity and travel for the Pike's Peak region.

Spring's a Drawing Card.
The Union Pacific recognizes that Colorado Springs and the Pike's Peak region is one of its big drawing cards in bringing travel to Colorado," said Mr. Ruble. In all our publications we give liberal space to this region, and it is our intention to continue to do so. Tourists coming to Colorado naturally want to visit this far-famed nation and it is to our interest to tell them what they can see and what they can do in the Pike's Peak region. In all of our Yellowstone excursion business to Yellowstone park, we arrange for the side trip from Denver to Colorado Springs, and this year we allowed a longer stop here than previously."

Western Union Now Sending to Germany

For the first time in six weeks cablegrams were accepted yesterday for Germany according to advice received by C. I. Michaels, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph company. The messages will be transmitted by wireless through Lucketts, N. J. All cablegrams are subject to censorship, however, and are accepted at the risk of the sender. They must be neutral in character. The addresses must be plain and the signature contain at least two words. Messages are limited to 25 words including address and signature and government cablegrams will be given precedence at all times. Senders are advised to file moderately and with the understanding that all messages are subject to paraphrasing by censors.

21 TRAINLOADS OF BOOTY FROM MARNE BATTLEFIELD

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Twenty-one trainloads of booty collected on the Marne battlefield have been brought into Vincennes since Sunday morning, says a Reuters dispatch from Paris. The spoils of war include 11 guns, 10 motor wagons filled with ammunition, two large field cars piled with helmets, rifles, gas masks and weapons of different kinds. It is estimated that since the beginning of last week about 30 guns, 100 machine guns and 400 wagons have been captured from the Germans in addition to a considerable quantity of ammunition.

Y. W. C. A. REPLIES TO LETTER OF PROTEST

Answers Criticism of Policy in Renting Rooms and Conducting Cafe

Following a resolution adopted last week by the Hotel and Restaurant Keepers association, in which a protest was voiced against the practice of the Y. W. C. A. in renting rooms and conducting a cafe, the Y. W. C. A. yesterday issued a statement in reply. The position of the association is given as follows:

To the Hotel and Restaurant Keepers association: We have received the protest of the Hotel and Restaurant Keepers association as published in The Gazette and the Telegram of Saturday, September 12, and regret the policy of the Young Women's Christian association in renting rooms and conducting a cafe. We are sorry that any group of our fellow citizens should feel themselves unfairly treated by the association, as it is our only wish to serve the community and further the best interests of all. We regret that our board of directors was not given an opportunity to explain its work without the need of a public letter, but we are always glad to answer questions or give statements in regard to the policies or work of the association, and are sending you this letter today with the intention of publishing it in the papers tomorrow.

Pelley Worldwide, Not Local.
Our objection to the renting of rooms and conducting a restaurant by the Y. W. C. A. is a protest against a local condition, but against a national and worldwide policy. In the United States there are 220 young women's Christian associations, and all over the country they exist under practically the same conditions as here, exempt from taxes, renting rooms and serving meals. These organizations are welcomed everywhere as valuable assets in the civic life of the community, and it would be a strange and unfortunate circumstance if Colorado Springs should be pointed out far and wide as the one place where the kind of work done by the Y. W. C. A. was discouraged and made impossible.

Object is Home for Girls.
In regard to the former, the very purpose of the association seems to justify the renting of rooms to women. It is one of its objects to provide a home for girls and women, a safe and attractive home at a reasonable price. ## A SURE WAY TO END DANDRUFF

Stop Falling Hair and Itching
Scalp At Once

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this just rub about four ounces of plain common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single grain and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. If you value your hair, you should get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only ruins the hair but makes it fall out, but the "make it" makes it straight, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless. It is a sure way to end dandruff.

COLORADO-TOURISTS WORK IN FOREIGN GRAIN FIELDS

Loring Andrews and Harold Pierce
Among Those Who Are Helping
Swiss Women Harvest Crops

Loring Andrews, son of Mrs. Chester Alan Andrews of Colorado Springs, and Harold U. Pierce of Denver, son-in-law of Dr. W. A. Bell of Manitou, helped the peasant women of Switzerland harvest the heavy summer crops, according to word received by Mrs. Arthur from her son. All the men of the little republic answered the call to the colors when the Swiss army was mobilized. The crops were so large that the women were unable to harvest them alone, and foreigners went into the fields to aid.

News of Mr. Arthur's sister, the Countess de Grabiac, also is contained in the letter. The count and countess at present are in Switzerland. Andrews stated, however, that the count intended to return to France as soon as possible and join the army, while the countess would enter the Red Cross service.

The Girls club on Mill street is supported and entirely carried on by the association, giving to more than 100 young girls recreation, instruction and guidance. An investigation of this branch of the work alone would serve to justify the existence of the Y. W. C. A. In these and other similar ways the money given us is expended, in the hope of helping many and injuring none.

A word before we close in regard to the admission of men to the restaurant. This is not a vital point with us, but the arrangement was made for three reasons. First, in order that by serving a larger number of patrons we might keep our prices reasonable for members; second, for the accommodation of some members who find it convenient to bring their families; third, that young women might dine with their men friends under our roof.

Would Meet Committee
We should be very glad to meet your committee at any time to answer any questions or to make any further explanation. Again, let us repeat that we wish to work no hardship on anyone, and that serving as you and we both are for the good of Colorado Springs, we hope to be able to understand one another's position, and to work in harmony for the best interests of the city.

Russian Writer Points Out Failure of the Austro-German Strategy

PELOPOGRAD via London, Sept. 15.—Colonel Shupsky, the military correspondent of the Bouras Gazette in a long criticism of what he terms the long mistake of Austro-German strategy, the effects of which, he says, are now being revealed on both fronts, considered that the Gallipoli campaign was obtained at an opportune moment and that the transfer of German troops from the western to the eastern frontier has not attained its object.

He says it is fair to conclude that the Russian success on the Austrian front and the Russian movement in East Prussia were the primary causes of the victory of the Anglo-French army. The shots administered by the Russian army, he declares have been so powerful that the Germans were obliged to recall a portion of their troops from France thereby facilitating the French task.

GERMANS CAPTURE FANNING WIRELESS

VANCOUVER B. C., Sept. 15. Definite news has reached Vancouver that the Germans have captured the Fanning island cable station. Whether the men who landed on the island on Monday September 1 were from the cruisers Nürnberg or Leipzig cannot be definitely ascertained. Communication was broken off so suddenly with the Hamfield (Vancouver island) end of the cable that the Fanning island operator was able only to send a message that armed men in uniform had landed and had entered the superintendent's office. Here the message stopped abruptly, and the cable has been silent ever since.

Fortunately the Germans immediately cut the cable at the shore end and took off the coal and supplies that are maintained on the island for the cable operators.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The Times' correspondent, from a point near Meun, wires a vivid description of the rout and retreat of the Germans during a hurricane and torrents of rain which turned the roads into rivers as the miles of the artillery sank deep in the mire. He describes how the horses strained and struggled often in vain to drag the guns away, and continue.

"The retreat rolls back and forth after the trainload of British and French are swept toward the bleak points of the retreating host. This is the advantage of the battleground which the allies have chosen. The network of railways is like a web of spider webs. As all railways center on Paris it is possible to thrust troops on the foe at any point with almost incredible speed and force and ammunition are within arm's reach."

French universities are being equipped to give more practical training to students.

K of K, the Ride and Hope of England

From the Kansas City Star.

K. of K. they call him, out of respect for the tenacious which marks his every action. K. of K. he has been ever since he conquered the unconquerable Sudan. Others have won victories before in that desolate, God-forgotten land of hellish heat and savage foes, but the victor has been about them, at best, only a temporary value. It was reserved for Kitchener of Khartum to make the conquest permanent.

Brilliant as may be his management of the war office during this most crucial war of Europe, he is not likely to do anything which will add lustre to the glory which will always be his, for the masterful and surpassingly successful campaign he personally conducted in '98, when he reclaimed the Sudan, saved Egypt, and wiped out the dark shame of England—the disgraceful failure that permitted Gordon to die, deserted in the hour of his greatest need.

He was "The Sirdar" then—the commander-in-chief of the forces of England and the khedive of Egypt. This is how a war correspondent saw him at the time.

He is 45 years old by the book, but that is irrelevant. He stands several inches over six feet, straight as a lance, and looks out imperiously above most men's heads; his motions are deliberate and strong, slender, but firmly knit, he seems built for steel wire endurance rather than for power or agility; that, also, is irrelevant. Sober, passionless, even aloof, he is decisive, brave, brilliant, rather full of cheek, a long, austere, somewhat which you divine an inviolable mouth, his face is harsh and neither appeals for affection nor aura dislike. All this is irrelevant, too; neither age nor face, nor figure nor any accident of person, has any bearing on the essential Sirdar.

He has no age but the prime of life; no body but one to carry his mind; no face but one to keep his brain behind. The brain and the will are the essence and the whole of the man—a brain and a will so perfect in their workings that, in the face of extreme difficulty, they never seem to know what struggle is. You cannot imagine the Sirdar as other than seeing the thing to do and doing it. His precision is an inhumanly unerring that he is more like a machine than a man. You feel that he ought to be patented and shown with pride at the Paris exhibition. International "British" Empire Exhibit No. 1—not competing, for a class by itself—"The Sudan Machine."

The Country He Reclaimed.

The Arabs have a saying, "When Allah made the Sudan he laughed. The echo of his laughter it is rather that the hearse crackling across the very sand of this infernal region where the sun bakes the sand all day long in bewildering heat; where nothing grows; where the people, dirty, fierce, naked, ignorant and avaricious, despite the ownership of the wretched land with all its loathsome bugs, crawling snakes, serpents, tarantulas, scorpions and hordes of devouring white ants. More than one has called it a God-cursed wilderness, and an empty limbo of torment.

Campanius against the Mahdi and his fanatic host, been undertaken with camel trains to transport supplies. In this war victories were won, but the effect was a rapidly vanishing one, and it all had to be done over again. In the early '90s came a new Mahdi, heralded as the true Muhammad Mahdi. He was wonderfully successful, and destroyed the armies sent against him one after another and pushed into civilized territory. Kitchener inherited this adverse situation in '98. He did not depend on camels and temporary victories from excursions and raids; he built a railroad. In '98 he was a new captain. In '98 he was a Sirdar. And he determined to wipe out the fanatic pest once and for all time.

He was laughed at. His moves were slow but machine-like. Everything went surely forward, but no expedition took the field. The deliveries were heightened, then as nothing came, grew secure, and then contemptuous. Osman Digna and Mahdi were in a well-intrenched camp on the Atbara river. Appeared one morning after a long forced march all night, the Sirdar! Nor was he alone, 12,000 men, the pick of the English and Egyptian armies, were there in the early dawn light with their eyes fixed on the entrenched stockaded camp of the enemy.

The Battle of Atbara.

The battle of the Atbara is history. With Egyptian cavalry on the extreme left, the English next directly facing the center of the camp, and the center and right of the line coming on the camp from its left pouring in a destructive enfilading fire the flame began the warred troops responding to the call of the "camerons" pipes like magic. A hedge of camel thorn barred the way, and the next it was left behind and they were over and in the camp. One after another they got through a stockade and three trenches, through a bush, a honeycomb of pits and ambushes.

As if there were no such thing as wounds or bullets they swept through the fire, were joined with a crashing volley by a half brigade the Sirdar had sent to the left, and then together they crashed down over and through all opposition, shoved the enemy into the dry-bed of the river and shot them down. Osman Digna and the cavalry got away, but Mahdi was captured, the host shattered, 2,000 dead were left in the Zariba and another thousand scattered about, and nearly all the Emirs killed or captured.

The summer season followed, with inactivity as to operations for the fall most careful preparations for the fall campaign against the Khalifa and the main body of the Sudanese fighting men, which had occupied Omdurman and hounded Gordon to death while inactively kept from him English support that would have relieved Khartum and saved him.

Kitchener was told he never would get home through the rapid, when the campaign began in the torrid end of August. He smiled. Three days later the boats were through and the front of the Nile by ships and the transport of men and camel trains along the banks went on.

September 2 with the gray steaming dawn light of the dawn, the army of the Khalifa dashed to meet and appeared against the British camp.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—Wheat prices made giant strides with each report today of what seemed any important turn in the fortunes of war. After turning a range of nearly 5c, the market closed strong 2 1/2c above last night. Corn finished the day up, 1c, with a gain of 1 1/2c, and provisions at an advance of 1c to 4 1/2c.

Most of the time the wheat market had a decided tendency to rally from the effects of the wild selling that characterized the day previous when attention centered on the chance of a possible sudden treaty of peace. The chief exception today was a violent downturn which took place about the middle of the session as a result of a unanimous decision that the German army under General von Kluck had surprised Omdurman. The British influence of this news was more than offset later by a series of a big victory for Germany over the Russian army.

Corn showed strength from first to last, although much hindered by setbacks on wheat. The Iowa state report was bullish and widespread rains were said to have injured early corn in aback.

Grain fluctuated with wheat, changes depending almost wholly on the wheat outlook regarding the probable length of the war. It was said that fully 1,000,000 bushels of cash oats were sold here today mainly for export.

Covering by shorts gave the provision market a sharp, upturn. Grain strengthened the expected disclosure of falling off in the local supply. The market showed a good deal of the impetus. Quotations Furnished by Oils & C. Quotations Open High Low Close.

WAR TO RUSSIANS IS A HOLY CONFLICT

They Join Colors and Leave for Front

(Special Dispatch to the International News Service.)

PETROGRAD (St. Petersburg), Sept. 15.—The following account of how the Russian people, rank and file, view the war, was written today by an Englishman who was in the Russian capital during the days when the great European war was getting under way.

"It was here when the Japanese war was declared," said a little man, who was too excited to keep his thoughts to himself, "but what a difference. Then it was the government that sent us to war. Now we go gladly."

We were standing on a balcony overlooking the Theater square in Moscow. Below us was passing an immense crowd of men and boys, shouting, singing, and waving flags, while the inscription "Down with Austria!" jerked and swayed above the heads of the bearers. From every street they debouched into the square, some singing their national anthem, others a religious chant, while a few broke into the "Marseillaise," forgetting that they had learned it—and sung it perhaps—only two or three years ago in revolutionary processions.

Believe War is Right.

"Do you hear them: do you hear them?" he gasped, clutching my arm. He spoke entirely in gasps, and ended in his breath between each sentence, giving the effect (somewhat modified) of an exhaust pipe. "They are not wild, not at all these people. They believe this war is right. They are fighting for the Slavs, for holy Russia. Bravo Russia, bravo France, bravo England!" he shouted down to the crowd directly below us, which for the moment had stopped singing. "They caught up his cheers and passed on. 'No,' he said, 'this is not a war for the empire, or else they would be all drunk and wild. They are not wild. They are following their hearts now. It is almost sacred. Come, come, they are all going to the Vostokskaya gate. We went down into the square and immediately lost each other in the swirl of people. The whole crowd was bareheaded. An old man, looking on, had his hat knocked off. He caught the offender—a boy—by the ear and the offender—a policeman. 'He knocked my hat off,' he spluttered. 'He should not have been on. The policeman said, 'I am no musician, but I know what is sacred, thank God.'"

Seek Divine Blessing.

There is a big shrine in front of the holy gate, which is one of many gates in the Kremlin walls, and this shrine was gleaming with an array of candles by the time I arrived there. The road leading up to it formed a square immediately under the walls, and there, in the insufficient light of two lamps, stood an enormous crowd waiting for something to happen, something mystic, the expression of that strange feeling they possessed.

The night was heavy with coming rain, and in the dim light the crowd of rough peasants, hunched by the expectation of divine blessing, some shock-headed, with legs crossed-gartered like twelfth century villagers, seemed under the old gateway. It was butting and nudging, more likely to be praying for help from their medieval superstition than heeding the blessing of God on modern warfare. The bishop, too, coming out from the shrine, helped the illusion with the fantastic embroidery of his robes. He bade some students fetch out the great ikon of the Blessed Virgin.

Proud of Uniform.

"What do you think of me?" he asked, holding himself at attention. "Very fine," I said, from motives of policy.

"I am splendid, eh?" he said.

"Splendid," I answered, wishing to say as much as I could.

"And my boots?" he asked.

"Must have good boots," he said.

"Seven rubles!" he answered, one finger against his nose. Then he lowered his hand as though to stroke his beard, and paused, as though he had no beard.

"Oh," he said, with a choke. "They have taken everything from me—my wife, my home, my heart. I should have fought better in a beard. However, what does it matter? It is all for holy Russia. It will grow again when I return. I shall return. I felt it last night. Do you remember?"

"What?" I asked, "they call you?"

"Why Dimitri, of course," he said, laughing at my astonishment.
